The Friendly Home: Building Project Update November 25, 2008

Construction Project Moves Forward as Winter Approaches

Coming up the driveway from East Avenue, it's plain to see that The Friendly Home's construction project is moving right along! Despite the cold and snowy conditions, work continues to progress with the goal of fully enclosing the new addition on the south side of our property prior to the "official" start of winter in December. (Temporary heaters are in place to warm the crew as they work!)

The exterior framing is now over 70% complete and roof trusses are being put into place. Work is also beginning to move inside the new addition, including fireproofing and wall installation on the first floor.

Please check The Friendly Home's website at www.friendlyhome.org for more project news. You can also view the "Project Cam" on-line to track progress as it happens!

Scaffolding is in place so work can begin on laying brick on the wall facing the interior courtyard of the new addition.
